Isobel Jones is a freelance film producer currently in Brisbane, Australia. She predominately works across short form, producing short films, TVCs, and music videos. Her short films have seen great success and accolades globally. She has experience in both production and agency side as a producer and has produced many jobs with various high-profile clients across several platforms. Isobel's utmost value in her work is making sure everyone involved in the production is informed, heard, and taken care of. She is devoted to the craft of film, and nothing is ever out of reach.

WORK EXPERIENCE:

2021 – Present: Freelance Producer

Isobel is a freelance producer currently in Brisbane, Australia. Primarily working on short form content including short films, TVCs, digital content, and music videos. She works closely with agencies, production companies and artist management/labels to develop, supervise and produce projects, local and interstate. Isobel builds and manages budgets of large and small scale and works very closely with all crew members to deliver the desired concept on all budgets.

March 2023 – Present: Colour Producer

Isobel currently works part time as a producer for The Colour Suite with colourists Kali Bateman CSI and Emily Reid. Her job here has three main components: producing, studio coordination, and business development. Isobel works very closely with external producers from agencies, production companies and post production companies to understand their requirements for each project and make sure everything is delivered on schedule. As there's two colourists in the suite, Isobel manages each colourist's diaries and keeps them up to date with all information. Isobel also holds a key role in building and maintaining strong relationships with new and old clients, ensuring they are happy and impressed with the work from The Colour Suite.

2022: Publicis Brisbane

Isobel's role at Publicis Brisbane, a global advertising agency, was Broadcast and Content Producer, where she managed the production of assigned projects through the agency by executing ideas within or across multiple platforms. The projects were primarily TVC/content, but also included photography, print, digital and radio. She was responsible for financially managing the projects including raising production estimates and reconciling completed jobs. Isobel worked closely with production companies and additional external resources and was responsible for liaison and clear communication across all resources, internal agency departments and clients.

2018-2021: Two Little Films

Isobel was employed by Two Little Films, formally Two Little Indians, as their Production Manager for three years, working on TVC's for various clients and agencies. She was the point of contact for crew, talent and agencies, making sure clear communication was administered across all channels. She was responsible for managing the production from budget, schedules, shoots, and post-production.
